OFFICERS ARE TO BE MADE IN THREE MONTHS

Army Desires Recruits For Training Camps Which Opens May 8

(By Associated Press to The Banner)

Chicago, April 23—General Thomas H. Barry is bending every energy to obtain recruits to the officers' training camps which open May 8. The response already has been large but General Barry said that every man who feels that his experience and other qualifications would make him a good officer should answer the call.

General Barry said that he would appreciate greatly the co-operation of newspaper publishers in giving all consistent publicity to the attractions and advantages of the scheme. He has issued a pamphlet which is being widely mailed giving complete information on the subject.

Camps will be located as follows: At Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. Two camps under one command, one for Ohio and one for Indiana and Kentucky.

At Fort Sheridan, Ill. Two camps under one command, one being for Illinois and the other for Michigan and Wisconsin.

At Fort Snelling, Minn. One camp for Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota and Nebraska.

At Fort Riley, Kansas. One camp for Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and Wyoming.

Those eligible to attend officers' schools in these camps are limited to reserve officers and candidates for appointment as such in the following branches: Infantry, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery and engineers. The course will last three months. At each camp it is planned to train officers for a full division and one additional cavalry regiment. The maximum number of attendants at each camp will be 2,500. The students will be required to take an enlistment oath for the three months course only, but must agree to accept such appointment in the officers' reserve corps as may be rendered them by the secretary of war.

The oath imposes no obligation to serve beyond the three months period except as a commissioned officer of the officers' reserve corps. Pay of officers depends upon future action of congress.

Under the national defense act General Barry said the candidate would be under no expense while taking the course. The war department will also bear the expense of transportation, uniforms and everything useful in equipment will be also provided by the department. However as the supply of uniforms is already inadequate candidates able to do so are urged to provide their own uniforms, two blankets, and necessary toilet articles before entering camp.

Previous military experience is not required of applicants. There will be no oral, written or practical examinations but each applicant will be questioned as to character and sobriety; personality, address and force; reputation, education and whether he is likely to command the respect of officers and enlisted men.

General Barry has obtained the co-operation of the Military Training Camps association of the United States Central department which is organized in 600 cities and towns. From members of this association applicants can obtain full information as to the procedure of joining the camps, or they may obtain it by writing directly to Gen. Barry at Chicago, Gen. Barry said: "The camps must open on May 8. The remaining time is short. Only by the most complete co-operation of all concerned can the department bring together and start to train the necessary number of qualified men to secure the 'FIRST TEN THOUSAND' to officer the first half a million troops to be called to the colors."
